

Cape Guardafui and Mogadishu

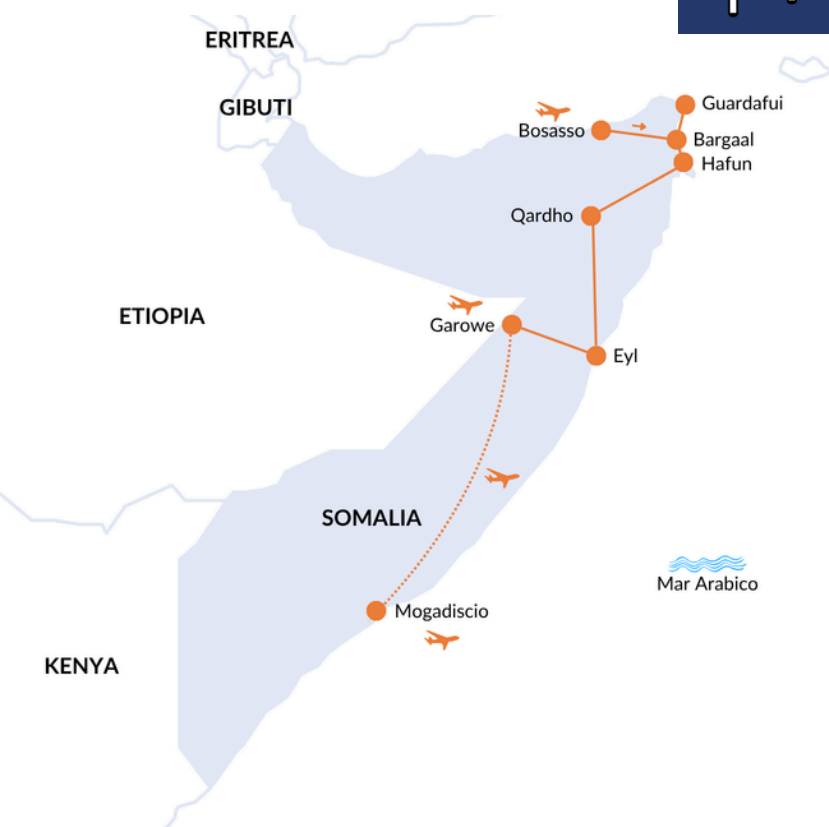

SOMALIA

12 days

28 November – 09 December 2026

English speaking guide

The 'unforgettable' of the trip:

- Puntland, the outermost reaches of East Africa
- Italian colonial remains, notably 'Mussolini's lighthouse' at Cape Guardafui
- Fishing villages and encounters with Somali nomadic herders
- Mogadishu, with its markets, memories of the war and the liveliness of Liido Beach

Cape Guardafui and Mogadishu

SOMALIA

An expedition into the heart of Puntland, all the way to the legendary Cape Guardafui, where 'Mussolini's lighthouse' stands tall.

From Bosasso to Garowe, via Cape Guardafui and Cape Hafun – the easternmost point of mainland Africa – amongst the remnants of Italy's colonial era in the Horn of Africa, meeting nomadic herders and Somali fishing villages.

A unique trip with the Italian anthropologist Leonardo F. Paoluzzi.

What's more, on this special trip, we'll visit the city of Mogadishu.

A journey off the beaten track, for true travellers

A trip to Somalia requires strong motivation and a great ability to adapt. The treasures this country holds are not easily accessible; the organisation and logistics are complex, and armed escorts are often required.

There will be long journeys, often over rough tracks; food (special dietary requirements cannot be guaranteed) and accommodation will be whatever is available in these remote areas; you will have to wait patiently at checkpoints and adapt to inevitable changes to the itinerary... In short, an experience for 'true travellers' who are not put off by the complexities of life in Africa, aware that the opportunity to traverse these remote and hard-to-reach lands, whilst interacting with the Somali people, is a privilege reserved for the few – and a precious gift that will certainly make up for the hardships of the journey.
